

ABSTRACT

The performance of a network system having one or more requestor nodes, one or more provider nodes, and one or more intermediate nodes is improved by determining the digital signature of a received file, looking up the digital signature in an index of signatures, 5 and forwarding a previously compressed version of the requested file when the digital signature is found in the index of signatures.